And thus we stop after SR2 as a 3 train was bought during OR1 ...

The OR2 operating order is - LPS, GT, WR, GW, CA.

Tim consolidates his holdings in the ByE & SxE and Graham floats the HeE after demonstrating how to lower share prices. Selling ByE twice meant that its price dropped twice - whilst also preventing Graham from buying one more HeE. Who will tell if that transpires to have been the better deal? Eh?

That seemed to go smoothly ... and the result is that Mike directs the LNWR with a holding buffer and John directs the GWR with Tony holding the same percentage. But conveniently (for John) Tony is sitting right after him in the dealing order. Meanwhile I am reminded that two companies are dropped for a four player game.

Next time we will stop after SDR2 if a 3 train bought during OR1 and/or if there a new, or change of, directorship during SDR2

Meet the new Craftsman, same as the old Craftsman.

For the avoidance of doubt - the plantations available for next time are indeed coincidentally the same as those that were available at the start of this round.
