

The 18xx games are on page 2 onwards in the order of starting. Outpost M16 is on p8, St. Petersburg M5 is on p9 and The Games That You Play is below.

New Games: 1856W41 starts on page 2. The 1830 & 1870 lists are teetering on enough for a start.

The puzzle from last time: John W, Mick H, Mike B & Ian P correctly identified the German as the owner of the fish. John's answer arrived about 35 minutes after I sent out the last Minstrel. Ian provided a very impressive record of logical thinking to the correct answer. I used the grid of everything vs everything method and managed to cock it up a couple of times before engaging rigour and getting the answer.

You might enjoy The Joy Of Winning which is on BBC4 tonight (Tuesday) at 9pm (and available to stream/download shortly afterwards). The tagline is "How to have a happier life and a better world all thanks to maths, in this witty, mind-expanding guide to the science of success with Hannah Fry." Well, tickety-boo. I did like her previous The Joy Of Stats and The Joy Of Data. I haven't read her book The Mathematics Of Love and it is not known whether a later programme will feature The Joy Of Sets.

COMMENTS

- David 1st Thanks to Rob for running this. The train rush hit me hard, but I had enough of an early lead to stay ahead.
- Mike 3rd My only criticism of 18EU is that the game is too often decided by the initial bidding and becomes a procession - particularly if as in this case someone is reckless or thoughtless - or both (That would be me). David was always going to win unless he did something exceptionally stupid. He didn't. Kudos to him and a raspberry to the rest of us.

GAMESTART

You are ... in dealing order ... Tim Parkes, Ian Pendlebury, Graham Lee, Andy Muir, George Lucas.

You each start with 300. Ian, Graham & George were in the last 1856 to start ... shall we compare and contrast this game in a learned manner? I think not. We will just enjoy it.

NEXT TIME – SR1 (PRIVATES)

We stop after OR10 by request. Next time we will stop after OR11 if a 6 train is bought during that very OR.

... but in the event nobody did try for a Warehouse and/or a Heavy Equipment.

There have been more wry and/or piqued comments about the production cards received in this game than in any other that I can remember. But somebody must be getting all the juice, somebody must be quietly flushed. As it were.
